SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1856.

Democrats of Kentucky.

We wish to say a few words to you, and now is the time. The day of decision is at hand. The fourth of November will attest your devotion to your principles, your regard for the rights of the South and the honor of Kentucky, and your fidelity to the Constitution and the Union of the States. Are you ready for the contest? Remember you have not the open day light party, for we contend with that party formerly encountered, but a secret plotting and ambush force—a foe that is desperate and unscrupulous; one that acts upon the principle that the end justifies the means, and which may therefore be expected to resort to any and every expedient to carry the election that their hate and ingenuity can suggest and which may seem to them to promise success. Be therefore wide awake and fully on the alert. Let every man resolve to do his whole duty. Contemplate no illegal voting on your own side. At the same time watch the other side, for we tell you it needs to be watched.

Let us see that your friends and neighbors go with you; but do so as orderly citizens and as independent freemen and exercise your own rights, but claim no masters of business, no weather, no distance, no masters of indignation, no blind or amount of inconvenience induce you to stay away from the polls. If you do not carry the election in Kentucky for Buchanan and Breckinridge, John C. Fremont will most assuredly be elected President of the United States; and the whole power, patronage and influence of the Executive Government will be thrown into the hands of the abolitionists, led on and directed by Wm. H. Seward, Joshua R. Giddings, Sumner, Hale, Beecher, and Co.

Fremont has told you in his letter accepting the Black Republican nomination, that if elected he will "wield all the power of the Government" to secure "a triumph for free labor," which, being interpreted, means a triumph of the North over the South, in what he terms "a purely sectional victory." Shall the vote of Kentucky enable him to do that? Do you suppose for a moment that the men of the South will bow their necks to the yoke of "higher law" abolitionism?

They will not do it. Does Mr. Fillmore, whose professed friends in Pennsylvania, Illinois, and other northern States, are uniting and fusing with Black Republicans against Buchanan, even he tells us in one of his speeches, that the South will not and ought not to submit to the rule of a sectional party like that of Fremont. If then you would guard your dearest rights and preserve from quick destruction this great and glorious Union of ours, rally to the polls en masse, without a single delinquent, and record your votes for the Democratic nominees.

They are true and tried men. One of them has stood for more than a quarter of a century in the front rank of American Statesmen, with few equals and no superior; and he has been, honestly and faithfully discharged every public trust committed to him. The other is your own pure and talented and gallant Breckinridge, the first man of his age in America—unblemished and without reproach, both as a man and a public servant. Are such men to be passed by and the vote of this nation to determine in favor of Fremont, whose whole experience in civil affairs was derived from twenty-one days' service in the Senate, and whose avowed principles, if carried out, would be fatal to the interests of the South and to the existence of the Union? Then, as you prize the Union, and as you love your own State, and are jealous of her rights and her honor, labor actively, zealously, and perseveringly in every manly and honorable way for the success of the Democratic ticket. We need to devote ourselves to no other duties. Do the same now. Take a few days for preparation and one for voting, and see that the whole Democratic vote is polled in every county.

And what shall we say to old line whigs and Union loving men of the Fillmore party? Mr. Fillmore, whatever may be his merits, is, beyond all manner of doubt, far the weakest of the three candidates before the people. Not a solitary State election has yet been carried by his friends, and the great probability is that they will fail to carry a single State in November. Remember, then, that if you vote for Mr. Buchanan, you will not, in fact, be voting against Fillmore, but against Fremont, and the contest is unquestionably one between the nominee of the Black Republicans and the candidate of the Democratic party. If any prefer Fremont to Buchanan, Abolitionism to Democracy, disunion to Union, let them vote for Mr. Fillmore; not that Mr. Fillmore is a Black Republican disunionist, but that a vote for him, under present circumstances, can have no other effect than to promote the chances of the Black Republican contest against Mr. Buchanan. But we call upon all who really love the Union, and are true to the interests, the rights, and the honor of the South, to rally at once and unitedly to the support of the National Democratic standard bearer.

Our reliance is, however, upon the old Democratic guard, with their allies the old National Whigs, who have united with them to save the country in this perilous crisis. A pull then, a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together, on the 4th of November, and the twelve electoral votes of Kentucky will be given to Buck and Breck.

The Next Congress—Largely Democratic.

Elections have been held in nine States for Members of the next House of Representatives, which thus compare with 1854:

1856.	Dem.	Op.	1854.
Arkansas	4	2	4
California	1	1	1
Florida	1	1	1
Georgia	1	1	1
Illinois	1	1	1
Indiana	1	1	1
Iowa	1	1	1
Mississippi	1	1	1
Minnesota	1	1	1
Nebraska	1	1	1
Nevada	1	1	1
New York	1	1	1
Ohio	1	1	1
Pennsylvania	1	1	1

Texas	1	1	1
Vermont	1	1	1
Virginia	1	1	1
Washington	1	1	1
Wisconsin	1	1	1
Wyoming	1	1	1

Opposition majority, 40.

Democratic gain of forty-four members in two years. There can be no doubt that the next House of Representatives, as well as the Senate, will be Democratic.

The Congress of the Proslavery.

Mr. Sedgwick, our Deputy City Marshal, forgot the position of his position while on a visit to Lexington on Wednesday. He was taken in charge by a policeman of that city. Mutual explanations led to his release, and he arrived in this city last evening in a somewhat subdued condition.

Where is Sam?

The Democrats of Paducah had a great rejoicing over the victory in Pennsylvania and Indiana.

WILLIAMSBURG, Oct. 18, 1856.

I have away out here in the mountains, am one of those men who always vote with that party which holds to the Constitution of my country as it is, unimpaired by faction or fanaticism.

We had, to-day, in our town, one of the finest speeches to which I have ever listened, made by Capt. Simms, of Paris, who is stumping the Mountains in the clear light, and proves from the record every position he takes so conclusively, that Know Nothingism tumbles down before his assaults, as falls the rotten fragments of an old castle. In making his speech, he lays down his positions so clear and distinct, that, when he concludes his arguments, it presents itself to the understanding as a finished piece of masonry whose every stone is fixed in the structure. And then his soothing, withering rebuke against all the ills of the day! Why, sir, I felt to myself that I could hear the very bones of Know Nothingism crack while he was speaking. I could feel them turning and getting out of their lodges like rats decamping from an old house when on fire. And sure enough, when he concluded, several of them came out and gave in their adhesion to the cause of the democracy.

We have heard the most flattering reports from all his speeches in the mountains, and if he has made such speeches elsewhere as he made here, you may expect the most glorious news in the November election.

Captain Simms is making the finest and most effective speeches we have ever heard in this region, and you may depend upon it, every Democrat and Old-Line Whig is wide awake for Buck and Breck. We will give at least 1,000 votes more for Buchanan than we gave in the last election. Send out the glad tidings.

The K. N. Candidate.

Mr. Fillmore and the speakers and press in his interest in the South, defend his Abolition vote while he was a member of Congress, upon the ground that they were all given in favor of petition only; and no doubt very many Southern men believe them, and so doing will vote for him; but it is nevertheless false, as is proved from the following extract from the second volume of the "Thirty Years in the Senate," page 154.

Speaking of the Abolition petitions presented by Slade, of Vermont, in 1838, for all of which Mr. Fillmore voted—he says:

"It was a portentous contest. The motion of Mr. Slade was not for an enquiry into the expediency of abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia (a motion of which sufficiently influential members of the House had the courage to bring in a bill for that purpose)."

"Of the petitioners 60 who backed Mr. Slade throughout, the most notable were Mr. Adams, who was then President of the United States, and Mr. Fillmore, who became so."

Will any man after this dare to say that Mr. Fillmore voted only in favor of the right of petition?

THE LEXINGTON BARBECUE.

The Democratic Mass Meeting at Lexington on Thursday was by far the most imposing political demonstration in the State. The numbers in attendance from a distance were variously estimated at from fifteen to thirty thousand. To thousands people ate of the plentiful repast provided by the hospitable Democracy of Fayette. The procession, which was miles in length, was the most magnificent pageant that we ever witnessed. It was a significant indication of the earnestness of the people, and their determination to rescue the State from the trickers who are desirous of trading it off to the Black Republicans.

WHAT THE BLACK-REPUBLICAN PAPERS SAID BEFORE AND AFTER THE ELECTION IN PENNSYLVANIA.

A short time before the Pennsylvania election, the Black Republican paper at Pittsburgh said its political friends: "Next Tuesday lost and all is lost." The "Citizen" the morning of the election told its "friends" in Pennsylvania and Indiana "that a vote now is of no consequence, that it will be on the Presidency." The Black prints for once were right. They properly appreciated the importance of the election, and knew if Pennsylvania and Indiana were lost "all was lost." Since the election, the New York Herald, the leading Black Republican paper, give up that Mr. Buchanan will be elected by a hand majority. The New York Tribune also says:

"Republicans the last reports from Pennsylvania leave no doubt of a Buchanan majority at the State election. The State ticket of that party is chosen by some five thousand majority in election four and five hundred thousand votes. That majority can be carried over to the Presidential election just at hand—we do not say that it will be."

"Republicans, we would not if we could conceal from you our disappointment at this result nor the magnitude of the disaster."

"Let us look misfortune full in the face. If there were any hollow-hearted, venal, self-seeking knaves following our camp last week, they will now skulk out of it and go over to themselves. All such will suppose our battle lost, and will be in haste to place themselves in a position to share the plunder of the field. Let them go in welcome to the world that I would not have connection with such a party and that I intend to benefit to it and vote as a freeman."

BEIT KNOWN THAT I, the undersigned, having been induced by false pretensions, to join the so-called American party, and having become disaffected with the same, hereby proclaim to the world that I have severed all connection with said party and that I intend to benefit to it and vote as a freeman.

WEEKEND. The young ladies of the Democratic Association of the city of Louisville are desirous to attend the Democratic Barbecue at Lexington, five miles from the city of Louisville, on the 28th inst., to entertain the scene with their presence and aid it with their smiles. The Democratic young gentlemen of Lexington, on the 28th and 29th inst., with a promise of a free good will, such as only Democrats can tender, went to work and furnished a hickory wagon, to be drawn off at 1 o'clock, to the Lexington, five miles from the city of Louisville, on the 28th inst., to entertain the scene with their presence and aid it with their smiles. ALL who have private carriages or wagons, or gentlemen on horseback are respectfully invited to fall into line at 1 o'clock, from this city and adjoining counties; also all Democratic friends from the distant States of Indiana, with the dunt snore of battle still fresh on their garments. Come! Come! We will give you a hearty welcome and good cheer. Proper officers will be in attendance to arrange the order of the procession and see that strict order is kept.

Kentucky for Buchanan and Breckinridge.

OFFICE OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, FRANKFORT, OCT. 25, 1856.

To the People of Kentucky: FELLOW-CITIZENS: To encourage our friends in this State to renewed exertions, and to satisfy the minds of those who are in doubt, the Democratic State Central Committee of Kentucky announce to them that this glorious old Commonwealth will, on the 4th of November next, take position in the van of the great Democratic column.

The district, county, and all sub-committees working in concert with this Committee, under the Democratic State organization, have sent in their reports. Communications have been received from our electors and speakers, and from the leading and working members of the party in the various counties from these, and other reliable sources of information, this Committee asserts that the majority for Buchanan and Breckinridge will exceed 7,000. This majority is based upon the reports of the sub-committees, and doubt that the result of the late contest in the northern States will give the Democratic candidates the support of the large class of our fellow citizens, who are in doubt of political associations and personal predilections, have determined to cast their votes where it will most avail for the preservation of the Union and Constitution. This accession of votes will certainly swell our majority to a figure that will exceed the expectations of the most sanguine.

The Democracy have ever put their trust in the virtuous, intelligent and brave men of the people. In the present contest in this State they rely solely upon the merits of their cause. To the charges that the Democratic party, or its agents in Kentucky, have practiced political dissimulation, or bear any corrupting influences whatever, to secure the State for their candidates, this Committee, the best of the Democratic State organization, gives a flat and unequivocal denial. A charge is a base and unmitigated falsehood—a fabrication, in the opinion of this Committee, to direct the attention of the people from the guilty operation of its authors.

The Democratic press, the Democratic electors and speakers, have nobly performed their several duties in the contest. It remains now for working Democrats, in every county, to vote for every vote is polled. The greatness of the stake will assure their attention to this all-important work—or if this motive were wanting, State pride, and the desire to maintain the honor of the old and young republicans and the neophyte, alike to work with a zeal and ardor, with a certainty of success never before felt in any contest in this State.

The certainty of our success in the national contest, no matter who oppose our candidates, or how the issue is finally made up, is now as clear as the noon-day sun. We have met the United States forces of John Fremont and Montgomery Blair in the North, and won a signal victory. The South never falters. The indomitable Democracy of Pennsylvania and Indiana sent us a glorious greeting on the 14th of the month. "Old Kentucky," in the name of her favorite son, sends Kentucky for Breckinridge a triumphant shout of victory. Indiana responds for both. Let us echo the shout of the President, Constitution and the Union, and mingle Kentucky's voice with theirs.

J. DUDLEY, J. M. ANNAN, S. I. M. MAJOR, ISAAC WINGATE, D. M. BOWEN, W. M. FRENCH, P. T. MAJOR, State Central Committee.

THE FILLMORE TOLLY.

For months the Fillmore men have fattened on the idea that if they could only manage to carry enough States to throw the Presidential election into the hands of the Black Republicans, they would thereby dextrous dicker their candidate elected as a compromise man. A meaner notion was never entertained by any party, and no more successful one. They have done this, and they propose that their party representative in the House shall cast the part of a clique of gamblers, and by selling out to both sides, and cheating all honest men, to make Fillmore President. The thought shows them to be foul with dishonor. Having loaded in the national atmosphere, by taking it internally and latching with it freely. It is the best intimation in America. Its action is like magic, when externally applied to bad men, but when applied to good men, it is like a curse. For sick headache and tooth-ache, don't fail to try it.
